

SAPIENZA
UNIVERSITÀ DI ROMA

Dottorato di ricerca in Diritto pubblico, internazionale e comparato

Environment and Landscape in the Greek and Italian Constitutions

Rome, 14 February 2025, 2:30-6.30 pm
Sapienza University of Rome - Faculty of Economics
Via del Castro Laurenziano, 9 – Room Onida

Welcome Remarks

- Giovanni Di Bartolomeo – Dean of the Faculty of Economics
- Giulia Caravale – Head of Phd Course in Public, International and Comparative Law

Panel I - Constitutional Principles

Chair

Luca De Lucia, University of Salerno

- The Principle of Sustainable Development in the Greek Constitution
Georgios Karavokyris, Aristotle University, Thessaloniki
- The Protection of the Environment in the Italian Constitution
Fabrizio Fracchia, Bocconi University Milan
- Specific Constitutional Principles on the Protection of Cultural Environment in Greece
Iakovos Mathioudakis, Aristotle University, Thessaloniki
- Constitutional Principles on Landscape and Cultural Heritage in Italy
Marco Benvenuti, Sapienza University of Rome

Panel II - Landscape Administration in Greece and Italy

Chair

Simone Torricelli, University of Florence

- Technical Assessments and Intensity of Judicial Review in the Field of Environmental Protection in Greece
Eugenia Prevedourou, Aristotle University, Thessaloniki
- Monument Protection through a priori Administrative Control of Projects in Greece
Konstantinos Gogos, Aristotle University, Thessaloniki
- Administrative Discretion in Landscape Administration in Italy
Vera Parisio, University of Brescia

Panel III - Discussion

Chair

Paola Chirulli, Sapienza University of Rome

Conclusions

Daria de Pretis, University of Trento, former vice president of the Italian Constitutional Court